porary chairman was reported to the convention He have put another in his place. would not believe that the chairman would pack any committee. Sidney T. Fairchild made a clear and incisive speech, showing that the proposition was simply to take away from the chairman the power to appoint committees which had always vested in him. The custom had never been departed from before. Here John Kelly wanted Mr. Fairchild to allow him to ask a question, but Mr. Fairchild said very sharply, "No sir," and the convention-knowing that the father of the Attorneyeral was talking to the man who was trying break the Attorney-General down-gave a round of applause. General McQuade, of Utica, made a strong plea for precedent, and Corporation Counsel DeWitt, of Brooklyn, characterized the nendment as in the interest of discord, and not harmony. They "were tired," said he, "of having Democratic conventions turned into bear gardens, where these acrobats of Tammany and anti-Tammany may go through their disgraceful performances." Probably the strongest argument new-ticket side was made by William C. Ruger, of Syracuse, Denison and Belden's lawyer, to made an animated and effective speech in defence, as he declared, of his rights as a delegate, he asserted were about to be encroached Then occurred an incident which the opnents of the eld ticket turned to advantage. Corration Counsel De Witt asked Mr. Ruger a queson, to which the crowd clamored out an answer. Said he, waving his hand impatiently to one side, 'I don't ask the rabble." The word was one which bble would be especially eager to resent, and y did it so effectually that Mr. De Witt could say sothing more, either then or at any subsequent time, owling that was set up whenever he attempted to address the chair. Erastus Brooks took up the word, and also resented the charge that the convention was a rabble, and he had his reward in the effusive applause of the rabble, whose existence me into collision in some way that the capacity of crowd for noise was fully exhibited. After Clarkson N. Potter had spoken, Ira Shufer, of the amany delegation, attempted to address the r, but was brought down with a point of order herefore, not entitled to the floor. Then Kelly tried, and a gentleman in the gallery with a large and fierce monstache reared down, you big-headed loafer was also warmly invited shut up." When his retainers had vindicated him with three cheers, he too was brought down the same point of order that had extinguished afer, and that brilliant passage at arms was over not however until another delegate had discharged at Kelly an epithet with a profane prefix which is too strictly Democratic for reproduction in le, ail delegations whose scats were contested were from the ballot, its result was awaited with great anxiety by both sides. One hundred delscates were thus debarred from a vote. It was soon that the new ticket had made gains, but the roll call proceeded without disturbance until Kings o be solid for the right of the chair and the old icket, it was at once insisted by the opposition that e informed, it seems that there were no credentials rom the contesting delegation, decided that Kings ants in the gallery grew so frantic that McLaughlin, who was trying to speak, od round imperial oath at them. Kings County is finally passed over until the roll-call was connot be changed by the vote of that The chairman also discovered, upon inquiry, that the credentials of the contestration were in the hands of the secretaries, pon decided-in spite of "Boss" McLaughlin treated as the other contested counties bad Menwhile, however, there had been a loose interchange of compliments, one gentleman having black-headed thief," and Mr. "Bob" Furey, of Brooklyn, who had been told by somebody in the Tamusany delegation, to sit down, made a step knock a chip off of some one's shoulder, said Well, make me sit down, if you think you can." While the secretaries were counting up the vote, they got this compliment from the rear of the hall: "No doctoring returns." The vote in favor of Dewitt C. West's substitute was announced at 169; the vote against, 114; and the crowd broke out into a wild cheer. Of the many who sprang to their feet and waved their hats, none was more conspic nous than the burly form of James Lord.

The delight of all the old enemies of Governor Tilden was indescribable. As one expressed it, it was the first time they had had a chance to cheer since 1873. Said another: "This is the first Democratic triumph in the Democratic party for a long time." Men slapped one another on the back and said, with great hilarity, "Are you a Democrat?" They all hailed with joy the prospect of the return of what Charley Walker mournfully called, the other day, "the old set." He said he wanted to see "the old set back again." This was the general feeling and hope. What sort of government the old set would bring back with it can easily be imagined.

WHAT THE CONVENTION WILL DO. THE ANTI-TAMMANY AND THE CONTESTANTS TO TAMMANY HALL EXCLUDED - CONJECTURES ABOUT CANDIDATES-THE CANAL RING EMBOLD-

ENED. | BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE. |

AtBINY, Oct. 3 .- The convention reassembled at 5 o'clock only to announce the Committee on Contested Seats, in which the friends of a new ticket were found to Tave sixteen members to seven of the friends of the old ticket, a preponderance largely owing to the exclusion of Kings County, the admission of which would have reduced the difference somewhat. No other committees were chosen and it will be necessary for the convention tomorrow morning to name the committees on the platform and on permanent organization, and then adjourn, in order to allow them to do their work. Thus no work, beyond that of deciding upon con-conspicuous in the fight against the old ticket, and who see what folly it would be to nominate Allen C. Beach. Clarkson N. Potter and Erastus Brooks are said to be strongly opposed to Mr. Beach's nomination. Mr. Beach, however, is disposed to stick. He is trying hard to get the support of Tammany, and it was rumored at one time that he had secured it. Mr. Magone is said to be firm in his refusal to yield any point to those who want a new ticket of men who have not been identified with the movement against Governor Tilden, and who have suggested the names of Homer A. Nelson, Dewitt C. West, Judge Charles Wheaton and Clarkson N. Potter. They are hopeful, however, of reaching some agreement before morning. It will serve to show how the spirits of the canal faction have revived in a single day-for they were by no means confident, yesterday-to say that it has actually been proposed to nominate for Attorney-General, Judge Geo. F. Comstock, of Syracuse, one of Denison & Belden's lawyers, an intimate personal friend of Willard Johnson, and once one of Tweed's lawyers, and having now pending against him a suit for fees. It was stated during the evening by a delegate who had excellent opportunities for knowing that it was proposed by the canal ring to nominate Mr. Beach and Judge Comstock, and that members of Tammany were favorably disposed to the idea. It was even said that this is Judge Church's wish. As a delegate expressed it." that first vote has made him crazy;" but it was learned later on from a source very near to Judge Church that he denied having any such idea. It has undoubtedly, however, been broached by some of his friends. For State Engineer, C. C. Hilton, of New-York, is talked of. There is nothing said about the platform. Nobody knows or cares anything about it. It will probably contain an indorsement of President Hayes's Southern policy and a denunciation of the means by which he gained his office.

Governor Robinson takes the new position of affairs very coolly and does not alter his opinions, or abate his frankness in stating them, in the least. He said to-night that there are worse things than defeat, meaning, it is understood, that defeat at the polls is better than the voluntary surrender of the party organization into corrupt hands. The Tilden men naturally predict a reverse for the ticket, if it is nominated by the men who carried the convention to-day, but more than one well informed politician has expressed the opinion to-night that this convention will totally change the character of the campaign in this State, which will turn now upon action of the Democratic and not of the Republican party. It will be seen that the old corrupt rings have resumed control of Democratic party: the independent vote which Tilden attracted will be driven back to the Republican party; and on the question whether the the State Government the Republican party will win, and Roscoe Conkling's luck be again a proverb. LATER.-At 12:30 a. m., the Committe on Contested Seats has voted 16 to 7 to admit solely the Tammany delegation from New-York, excluding anti-Tammany and the contestants in Tammany

ANTI-TAMMANY DEMOCRATS TO BE ALLOWED NO REPRESENTATION-A NEW TICKET TO BE NOMI-NATED.

[GENERAL PRESS DISPATCHL]

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 3 .- To-day's proceedings in the convention are considered to have made two points clear; first, that the anti-Tammany men New-York City will be allowed no position what ever in the convention, and, second, that those who favor a new State ticket will carry their point. The Tammany men are outspoken in deciaring that party policy, discipline and organization forbid further parleying with a faction, and that there must now be a square issue between the supporters of the regular the irregular organization. The known sentiments of a large majority of the Committee on Con tested Seats renders it certain they will report unqualifieldy in favor of scating the Tammany and excluding the auti-Tammany delegates.

Allen C. Beach still seems the favorite nominee for Secretary of State; to Mr. Olcott's renomination for Controller there is no opposition, and Mr. Ross's nomination for Treasurer appears to be nearly as well assured. The nomince for Attorney-General apparently must be taken east of Albany, and Mr. Schoonmaker, of lings County could not be called, and that it | Uster, is freely named. John B. Haskin is also men-

ALBANY, Oct. 3 .- Before the Committee on Credentials; to-night, in the case of Kings County, Walter L. Livingston and Geo. B. Brower presented the claims forward, and, with that peculiar curl of the lip of the contestants, or Independent Democracy. Mr. Kinsella and Mr. McLaughlin replied. In the New-York contest, ex-Judge Waterbury presented the auti Tammany case, and Honry L. Clinton epited. The argument of the contestants in both counties was that the regular delegates do not truly represent the entire Democracy, Tammany Hall, in the one ease and the Brooklyn ring in the other running the machine in such a way as to suppress the the machine in such a way as to enpress the views of large bodies of Democratic voters. The reculars responded in substance by showing their undoubted regularity, denying the charges against their administration, and in the case of Tammany, urging the Kelly administration had east out its improper elements and purified

The contested delegations have been heard in alphabetical order, Albany being the first, Mr. Resendale and Mr. Peckham arreed on behalf of the machine delegation, and Judge Parker and Mr. Moak on behalf of the Comma delegation. In the Tammany fight, Mr. Waterbury opened on behalf of the contestants, and was supported by Senater Morrissey, Mr. Clinton making the principal argument for Tammany, which was sustained and supplemented by a plain statement from Mr. Kelly. Much interest was manifested in the debate, the remarks both of Mr. Morrissey and Mr. Kelly being especially interesting to the committee as revealing some of the liner workings of New-York politics. Morrissey claimed that a refusal to admit a representation from his delegation would result in the loss of two Senators. The debate was closed at 11:45 p. m., and the committee went into executive session.

at 11:45 p. m., and the committee went into executive session.

After a protracted executive session, the doors were opened at 1 o'clock this morning, when it was learned that the committee had decided to admit the Tammany delegates entire, by a vote of fifteen to cicht. The vote to aomit the Kings County delegation, headed by McLaughlin, was unanimous.

In the First Albany District, the Corning or new ticket delegation was admitted by a vote of thirteen to nothing. The Renssellaer and Orleans delegations, favorable to the present State officers, were admitted. Mr. Hartman, of Westchester, withdrew all opposition to the Haskin delegation. The committee adjourned until 8 o'clock this morning.

PROCEEDINGS IN DETAIL.

TEMPORARY ORGANIZATION. ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 8 .- The Democratic State Convention met in Tweddle Hall at 12:05 o'clock The delegates occupied the parquette seats, and and the audience the dress circle and galleries. All the seats were occupied, and a very large number of persons were outside unable to gain admittance. Daniel Magone, of St. Lawrence, Chairman of the State Committee, called the convention to order, and nominated the Hon. D. B. Hill, of Chemnug, for temporary

The Committee on Contested Seats has been busy afternoon.

The Committee on Contested Seats has been busy ever since its appointment, is still busy now, at midning hight, and will probably continue so till morning, hearing the arguments of contestants. Contrary to the custom semetimes followed, all decisions are reserved until the close of all the arguments, so that it is a matter of mere speculation what the committee will do. Kinss County will, of course, be admitted, as it is a matter of mere speculation what the committee, as it is unversally understead that the contest in the county amounts to nothing About New-York it seems attegether likely that anti-Tammany will be excluded from participation in the convention of the convention of State, and that there was no remedy for the winner. State, and that there was no remedy for the winner. Rather than plunge the sometry into a civil strife, and disorganize and destroy all its business interests, the Democracy of the country choose to quietly submit to the outrage. But no lapse of time, no more silence, to specious plea that the result was finally accombished through the forms of law, can obscure the enormity of the act, or excuse or justify, and it will go down into mistory as the most flagrant usurpation of modern times. Our first duty to ourselves and to the country will be to denounce. In fifting terms, these vile means by which the Presidency was stolen from us, and to enter our solemn protest and warning against any attempt at a reactition of the larceny in the future. But while the present Administration obtained its power by unlawful means, and while its tenure may well be questioned, yet, during the short period of its existence, it has exposed the error of the polley which its party has pursued ever since the close of the war; it has partially adopted the policy of conciliation and local self-government which the Democratic party has for the post ten years insisted upon, and it has endeavored to win the approval of the people by promising the very course which, last Fall, we demanded should be pursued. Mr. Grady (N. Y.) said he was here as a delegate to this convention, and had credentials. He had the right to have his name called as much as any other man here. He presented it, as a point of order, that his name should be

The chair said it was proceeding under the rule dopted last year, and asked Mr. Apgar to state what that rule was.

Messrs, Schell, Grady, and Beebe, got on the floor at once amidst much disorder.

Mr. Beebe asked if all the delegations from New-York were contestants. The chair said that could be determined by caning the roll.

Mr. Doffy, of New-York, moved that the names of the New-York delegation be called. [Cheers and applause.] Mr. Schell said he held in his hand a list of the regular Democratic delegates for New-York City, and he wished them to be called. [Great cheering].

The chair again called upou Mr. Apgar to read the resolution adopted at the last State convention. The hisses were renewed so that Mr. Apgar could not be heard.

Mr. Wachner raised the point of order that nothing was in order till the roll had been called.

The chair said the question now is, which roll to call.

Mr. Wachner claimed that the only roll in order was that furnished by the State Committee.

The chair said the Assembly, furnished by the Secretary of State. As there is no secretary of state to this convention, that rule of the Assembly could not apply. The chair again called on Mr. Apgar to read the resolution of the last convention in relation to calling lists of delegates.

Mr. Appar stemped forward, but was again interrupted has taken his seat in an error be made regarding the resolution passed at the convention. The resolution was passed at Syracuse in 1875. But subsequently at Utics, in 1876, a resolution was offered by Mr. Beebe, granting the right of the regular delegates to sit in convention, and that those contesting the reseats should also sit in the convention until their right to a seat was decided by a committee appointed for that purpose. The last resolution, the chairman will see, is the one which was effered by Mr. Beebe in the convention held at Utica, in 1876. New, just here, I am perfectly willing that the number of contestants in the convention from the city and county of New-York, shall sit in the convention along with the regular delegates, until a committee is appointed to decide whether they have a right to sit in the convention. Mr. Merchasey—I rise to answer the gentleman from Sullivan: I say that all the districts in New-York are contested, and under the resolutions passed in 1875 and 1876, the members sitting in these conventions should sit in this one. We ask that privilege, and that only unit the credentials are sent to the Committee on Contested Seats, and have been passed upon by teem.

Mr. Brooks, of Richmond, announced the substitution of Ricaard Crooks in the place of Sidney Rawson, and Erastus Brooks for David Roland. A person rising from his seat in the gallery claimed to be one of twenty-seven contesting delegates from Kings, and asked that the list be read. The chair said he could not recognize the applicant, who was not upon the floor of the convention.

Mr. Reeves, of Suifolk, offered a resolution that a com-mittee of one from each Congressional District be appointed on Contested Seats. Mr. West, of Lewis, moved to amend by substituting the following:

unite the party of the considered than Tammany and anti-Tammany. [Applause.]

Mr. Peckham, of Albany, said that the question was whether the convention should depart from the custom and the rule governing fornor conventions, and take from the presiding officer his rights as such efficer. Incidentally, he remarked that the Assombly rules do give the chair power to appoint all committees, unless otherwise ordered by the other side of the House. [Laughter and appliause.] The gentleman from Lewis says it is un-Democratic, but he (Mr. Peckham) denied this. The resolution does not call on the State Committee to name this committee. It calls on the chairman alone. He has the responsibility upon him, no matt r whose advice he sees fit to ask in the premises. To take the power from the chairman was to constant a slur and a reproach upon him.

Mr. Potter, of Westchester, desired to appeal to the reason of the convention and nothing else. He urged he right and power of the convention to exercise its own privilege of making a committee without such action being a reflection upon the chair or anybody else. It was my when parliamentary bodies had before them maters about which no serious difference of opinion was exected, that they left it to the presiding officer to apoint committees. This was not such a case, but one in which the convention should give form to its own yiews, y asserting its own power instead of delegating it to the hair.

Mr. shafer, of New-York, insisted that the rule which Mr. Shafer, of New-York, insisted that the rule which had hither to been applied to anti-Tammany should now be applied to faminany should now the applied to faminany should now the syracuse convention of 1875, when the anti-Tammany delegates were turned out of the convention on the leport of a committee appointed by the temporary chairman. A voice in the crowd: "Sit down, you big-headed loafer" [laughter], at which both Mr. Kelly and Mr. Shafer looked inquiringly.

A call was made for "turee cheers for Kelly," which were given when a vociferrous will.

Mr. Brown, of Jefferson, proposed that this convention should act in such a manner as to warrant the people of the State in giving a victory to the Democratic party. He warned them against following the precedent of the Rechester convention, where a base majority seried the organization of the party for two years, through this very policy proposed by the State Committee. He called upon the convention, here and now, to get rid of this arbitrary rule. Mr. Reeves, of Suffolk, briefly supported his resolution, amin such great confusion as to be aiment unheard. He said, during his twenty years' experience in State conventions, the custom was to proceed in the manner he had proposed in his resolution, and that the unwarying practice created a strong presumption of its wisdom.

Mr. Meoney, of Erie, then moved the previous question, unvarying practice created a strong presumption of its wisdon.

Mr. Mooney, of Eric, then moved the previous question, which was ordered. The question was stated, and the substitute offered by Mr. West, of Lewis, who calied for the ages and noes, which were ordered.

The chair asked the indulgence of the convention to say he knew of no resolution having been passed by which any other person than himself was given even abserty of suggesting the names of the committee men. No names had been handed to him [applause], and there have been no suggestions made [applause], and there have been no suggestions made [applause]. In response to an inquiry by Mr. Potter, of Westchester, the chair assented to the proposition, that in voting on the pending amendment no names would be called in any contested affect. When Kings County was reached, and the first name was called, objections were made that Kings was contested, and could not vote.

The chair declared that he had no knowledge of the contesting papers being found, the Chair announced that less stood corrected, and Kings was ordered to be passed. [Applause.]

THE MILEAGE OF LIEUTENANT-GOVERNORS

SIR: Your Albany correspondent in the letter published this morning, brings a charge against ex-Lieutenant Governor Beach, and adds: "He was not ithout precedent in the matter; for Chi f Justice Church did the same thing when he was Lieutenant Governor, and General Robinson, when he succeeded Mr. Beach." So far as relates to me, this is not true. I never presented a charge for attending meetings of any Board, during a session of the Legislature.

Very respectfully yours, JNO. C. ROBINSON.

CHURCH CONVENTIONS.

THE EPISCOPALIANS AT BOSTON. THE NATIONAL CONGRESS REGINS WITH AN IM-PRESSIVE SERVICE-ORGANIZATION FOR BUSI-

NESS. Boston, Oct. 3 .- The Triennial Convention of the Episcopal Church of the United States began this morning at Trinity Church at 10:45. Long before the services began no sent or nook in the vast edifice was unoccupied, and from the fact that a great many did not take part in the services it was evident that the audience was not composed of Episcopalians only. The sight which the church presented, from the beginning to the end of the morning's exercises, was such as has probably never been seen before in tuts city.

About 11 o'clock the Bishops, nearly sixty in number, filed in at the main entrance, and marched down the centre alsle, to the chancel. The younger Bishops, after entering the nisle, formed on each side, so that the seniors the chancel. The Bishop of Kentucky, the Rt. Rev. Rev. William Stephen Perry, D.D., coming last. After the Bishops were seated in the chancel, the services began and proceeded in accordance with the ritual of the church.
Dr. Potter, of Grace Church, New-York, read the exhortation and confession, and Bishops Paddock, Whittingham, McCloskey and Lee, and the Revs. Carsion Whitherham, McCloskey and Lee, and the vol. Cale vol. Cale vol. Tait, T. S. Browne and Wm. Fethoch took part in the services. The sermon was preached by the Right Rev. John Williams, D.D., J.L.D., Bishop of Connecticut. The sermon was simply an opening discourse, such as is customary upon these occasions, but was far above the average in interary excellence.

In and around the chancel during the service, where

He communion was celebrated by the Bend, Bosworth S. ith, D. D., LL. D.

There are two Houses in convention, the House of Bisnops, fifty-eight in number, ever which the Right Rev. B. B. Smith, D. D., LL. D., presides, and the House of Cherical and Lay Deputies. The former meets in Cherical and Lay Deputies. The former meets in the Latter of the Cherical and Lay Deputies. Dr. Alexander Burgess, of Massachusetts, was elected President of the latter to-day on the first ballot. It was then stated that the delegates had piedged themselves not to use Trindry Churcu for the transaction of business,

On Saturnays the convention will adjourn at 1 p. m.

The House of Bishops held a secret meeting this aftertioon, and these meetings will continue during the entire accsion.

The visiting delegates have been cordially received by the resident Episcopalians.
